1. In February 1953, 60 samples each of several types of switches were ordered from the TOS factory in Chotutice (O 51/M 18) by Tesla, Pardubice. The order sheet was stamped with a red rubber stamp reading "Government Commission 855."
2. The order was to be included in the TOS quota for the second quarter of the year but, after several telephone calls, a Tesla official from Pardubice arrived and asked the head of the TOS sales department that this commitment be advanced to the first quarter.
3. The official confirmed the fact that the order was connected with the manufacture of 60 mobile radar stations and that General Alexej Cepicka, Minister of National Defense, was personally interested in the matter. It was therefore essential that the switches should be supplied in the first quarter of 1953.
